All	23,169	1,665	1,164 / 501	1,000	60.1	455	26 Aug to 28 Oct

Notes: Data as of 29 October 2026. Past day 30: filed by 29 September, so the 30-day limit in s.7(1) has passed. Tamil Nadu is drawn by department × tier quotas, other states proportionally to department group with a cap.

Notes: One line per state; 999 applications have a filing date, from the portal acknowledgment where one exists, otherwise the RA sheet. Applications filed before the dotted line have passed the 30-day limit in s.7(1).

Table 2: Response within 30 days of filing, by state (%)

State	N	Any response	95% CI	Reply	Information supplied
Tamil Nadu	140	12.9	[8.3, 19.4]	11.4	4.3

All excl. Telangana	268	28.4	[23.3, 34.0]	25.0	12.3

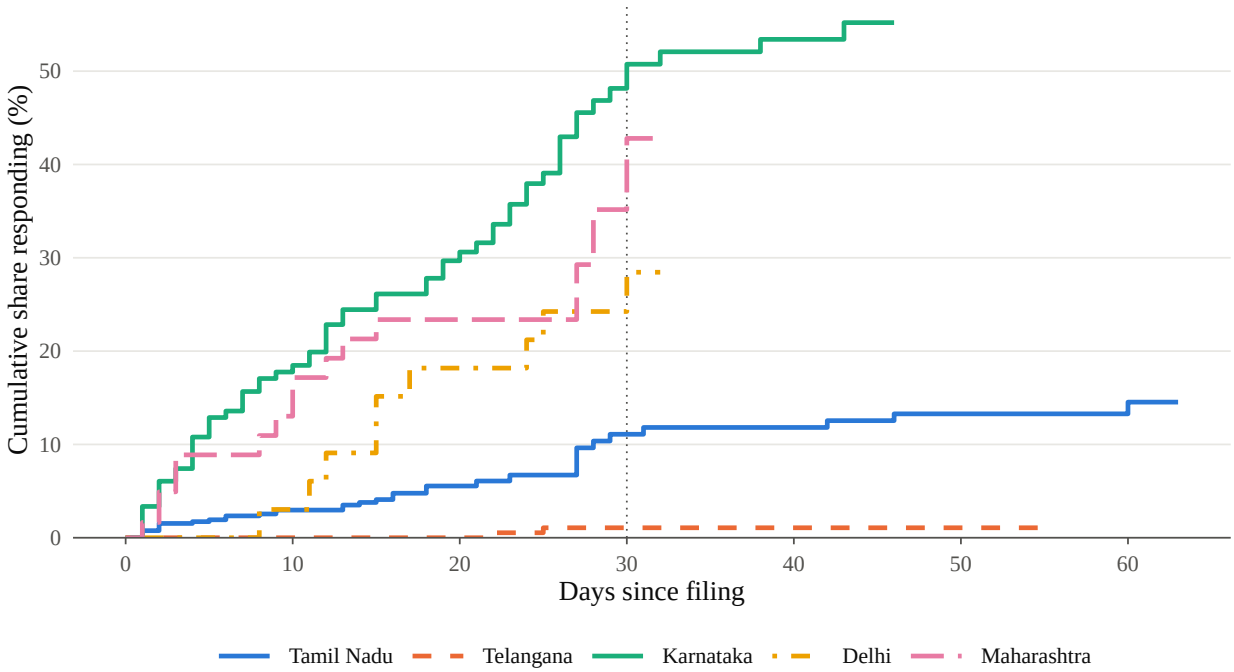

Notes: Applications past day 30. Any response: any office action, including a transfer or fee demand. Reply: excludes transfers. Information supplied: reply coded full or partial, a lower bound. Telangana is a lower bound because its portal sends no status emails. Brackets: Wilson 95% intervals.

Figure 2: What has come back so far, by state

Notes: Applications past day 30, status as of 29 October, whenever the reply came. N in parentheses; segments of 8% or more are labeled. First-pass coding of reply documents, not yet double-coded. Telangana is a lower bound because its portal sends no status emails.

Notes: Kaplan-Meier estimates of time to any response (any office action, including a transfer or fee demand), all 999 dated filings, censored at 29 October; curves stop when fewer than 10 applications remain at risk. Dotted line: the 30-day limit in s.7(1). Telangana is a lower bound because its portal sends no status emails.

Maharashtra	49	49	49	28	0	18
All excl. Telangana	707	561	372	268	180	124

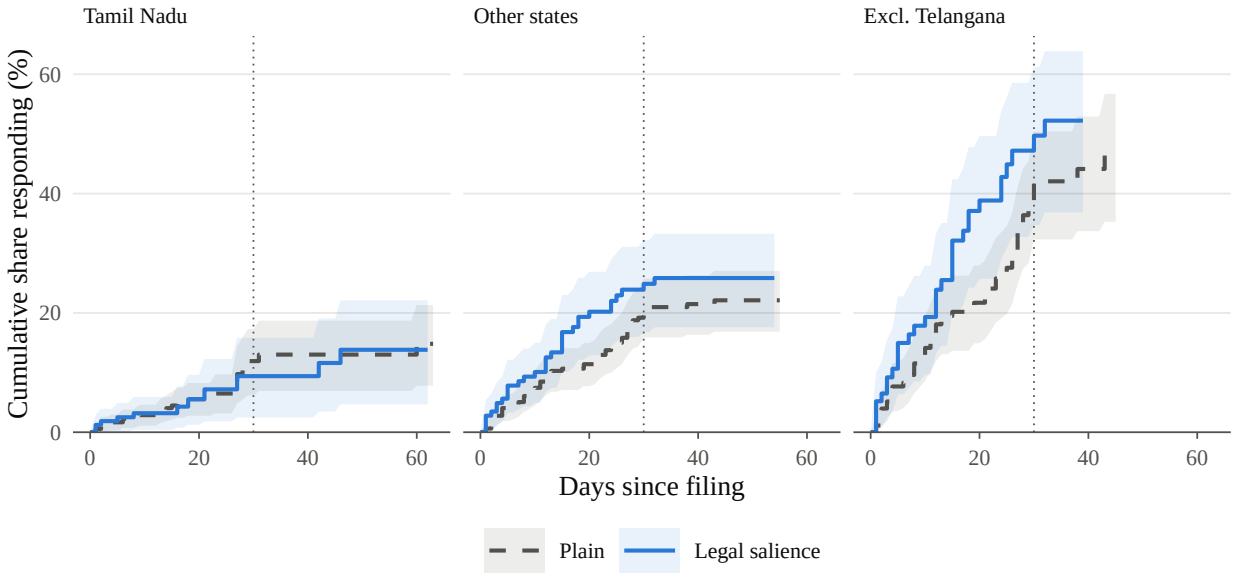

Notes: All dated filings; each column uses only applications filed at least that long ago, so shares need not rise. Any response: any office action, including a transfer or fee demand. Blank: fewer than 10 applications. Last column: median days (Panel A), responders (Panel B).

Table 4: Any response within 30 days, by letter (raw comparison)

All states	310	16.5	145	18.6	2.2	0.594
All excl. Telangana	180	27.2	88	30.7	3.5	0.566

Notes: Applications past day 30. Legal salience: the letter adds the s.7(1) deadline and s.20 penalties to the plain request. Any response: any office action, including a transfer or fee demand. Raw differences in percentage points; the Tamil Nadu row is confounded with tier. Interim, unregistered look.

Figure 4: Time to first response, by letter

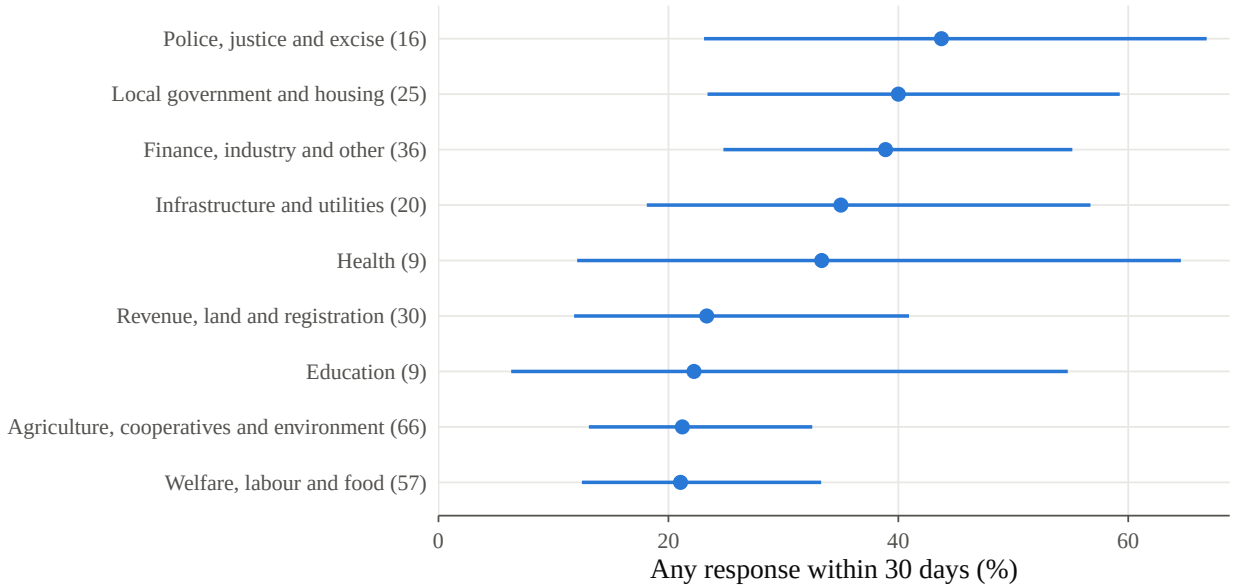

Notes: Kaplan-Meier estimates of time to any response (any office action, including a transfer or fee demand) with 95% bands, all filings, raw, so the Tamil Nadu panel is confounded with tier. Legal salience: the letter adds the s.7(1) deadline and s.20 penalties. Excl. Telangana: Karnataka, Delhi and Maharashtra. Dotted line: day 30.

Maharashtra, filed in October	13	15.4	15.4	7.7

Notes: Any response: any office action, including a transfer or fee demand. Reply: excludes transfers. Information supplied: coded full or partial. Panel A: past day 30, from only 11 of 40 departments because of filing order. Panel B: filed at least 14 days ago; blank cells have fewer than 10 applications.

Notes: Applications past day 30, excluding Telangana. N in parentheses; bars are Wilson 95% intervals. Any response: any office action, including a transfer or fee demand. Function is keyword-coded from department and office names (crosswalk in data/cleaned/). Pooled across states, so state differences are not removed.

Notes: Applications past day 30. Any response: any office action, including a transfer or fee demand. Only RA2 and RA4 could receive calls and both are one person, so this bundles phone with name and address. Difference: coefficient on RA2/RA4 with block fixed effects and robust SE, in percentage points.

Notes: All rows: any response (any office action, including a transfer or fee demand), legal letter as in Table 10, block fixed effects, robust SEs. Later cutoffs and the day-14 row use applications exposed that long. Filer-group rows are exploratory. The Cox model is our addition, not in the design document; its SE is on the hazard-ratio scale.

Notes: Each point is a separate linear probability model of any response (any office action, including a transfer or fee demand) by that day on the legal letter, with randomization-block fixed effects, on applications filed at least that long ago. Bars are 95% intervals from robust SEs. The sample changes across horizons.
